Lesson 1

GRAMMAR

REMEMBER!

- We use as + adjective / adverb + as to make comparisons when the things / people we are comparing are equal in some way:

James is as tall as his older sister.

The world's biggest bull is as big as a small elephant.

The weather this summer is as bad as last year.

- We use not as / so ... as to make comparisons between things / people that aren't equal:

She is not so good in cooking as her mother.

Paris is not as big as Tokyo

1 Compare these people with the help of 'as ... as' or 'not so ... as'.

- 1 Ann has got eyes of the same colour as John's.
- 2 Rose is taller than Cathy.
- 3 Linda has got curly hair. Mary has got curly hair, too.
- 4 Bill and Tom are good pupils.
- 5 My grandparents are older than yours.
- 6 Brenda is better at skating than Lisa.

LEARNING TIP

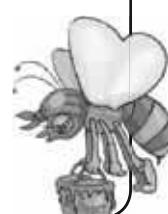

If you would like to make the description more vivid and lively¹ use a simile². In a simile the two things that we compare, we usually join with the word 'as'.

For example: Liz is as busy as a bee.

George was as quiet as a sleeping cat.

Tim was as scared as a rabbit.

Isn't such language more interesting?

READING

1 Read the letter and name all the people in June's life.

Ann has just come from holidays. Before going away she sent her address to the youth magazine called 'Sugar'. When she got back home she was very surprised to find a letter.

Sydney, 2nd September

Dear Ann,

While I was reading 'Sugar', I came across your address so I decided to write to you because we seem to have a lot in common. At least we both like reading the same magazine. I'm 15 years old and I live with my brother and parents in Sydney. You could say that I live with my parents but I don't see them very often.

My Mum works for an advertising agency. I think her job is much more interesting than my Dad's. I get on very well with her, but sometimes she worries too much.

My father is a bit of a workaholic. He works for a big publishing company. He works late hours, even weekends. He's nice, but when I go out he wants me to be back by 10 o'clock.

I like drawing a lot, I'd like to be a designer or maybe illustrate children's books. I've taken up extra painting classes and it's a lot of fun. My brother thinks I'm not talented at all but that's my brother. He's a bit of a weirdo, anyway. He is 18, but still spends most of the time on his skateboard. He has a bunch of friends who are all crazy about it. They all think they are cool.

Lesson 1

He hopes to become a famous musician. He spends hours practising, the rest of the time he teases me. He's taking exams at the moment. He pretends to be studying, but he is playing computer games or watching videos.

My best mate is called Eve. She's a real friend. She never lets me down. We go to the same school. When school is over, we go to the beach to watch windsurfers. I like one of the boys there a lot. Eve says he is a real joker. His name is Pete, but he doesn't even notice me.

This weekend I'm going birdwatching with my parents. We will go into the bush with binoculars¹, sleep in tents and have a lot of fun. Eve's coming with us and we have to catch up with all the news. That's all for now! I hope to hear from you soon.

Love,

June

1 Work in pairs. Talk to your partner.

- 2 Do you fall asleep easily?

2 Listen and read the text.

Every person goes through five stages of sleep. To feel good we need to go through each stage every night.

During stages 1 and 2 you sleep lightly. It is easy for someone or something to wake you. During stages 3 and 4 you sleep deeply. It is not easy for anyone to wake you. You hear no sounds and see no lights.

Then comes the last stage of sleep. It is called REM (rapid eye movement). This is the stage in which you dream. You breathe more quickly than in the previous stages.

Your eyes move rapidly under your eyelids and you dream.

There are all kinds of dreams: good ones, bad ones and nightmares. You need your dreams. You dream more if you have a special problem. Dreams help you solve your problem and give you answers to some questions. Actually, you dream four to six times during the REM stage. Very often you don't remember what you have dreamt about.

If you have problems falling asleep, you should think about the following:

- a Chocolate, tea and Coca-Cola have caffeine and they keep you awake. Try not to have them in the evening.
- b Too much food makes it difficult for your body to relax. Think about how much you eat before you go to sleep.
- c Exercise wakes you up. Don't exercise before bedtime.
- d Your bed should be used for sleeping only. Eating, studying or watching TV shouldn't be done in bed.

6 Read to answer the questions on page 44.

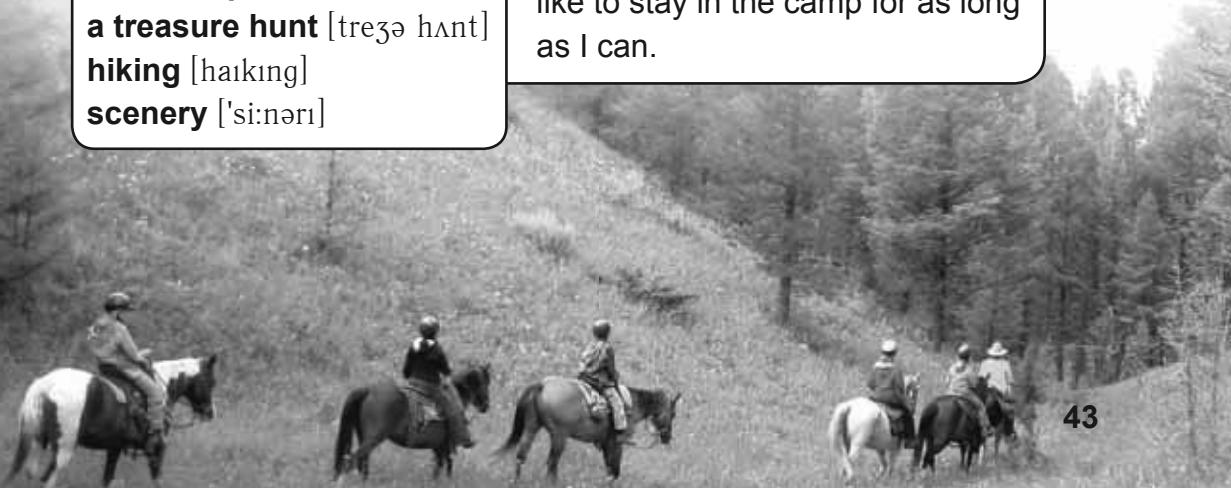

Brian is tired of going to the same place every summer and he's dreaming of going to a holiday camp this year. He is surfing the Internet and has found one.

Hi, my name is George. I'm staying at Kids' Camp in Ireland. It's really a fun place to be. The scenery is beautiful and the atmosphere is friendly. I'm sharing a room with a boy who is the oldest in our group. He is Irish and he speaks with a funny accent. He is also the best swimmer. Every day we get up at seven. I hate getting up early, but here I don't mind it so much because I enjoy having breakfast with all the other kids. In the morning we play water polo for two hours which is great. We do different things every afternoon — we play tennis, we go hiking, horse riding or we just hang around the camp. I love going hiking in the woods, especially when we have a treasure hunt. That is the best! We spend the evenings in the camp. There is one boy, Sam, who is very good at playing the guitar, so we sometimes listen to him and sing. I don't mind singing but I prefer playing cards or Monopoly. The other day we went on a day trip. We visited Dublin. We went sightseeing and shopping. I would like to stay in the camp for as long as I can.

6 Write sentences about some of your family members.

My sister Tina is serious and hard-working.
She always does well at school.
My brother Ted is shy,
but he's also very clever.
My friend Paul is very popular.
He's got a lot of friends.

7 Read the text and find the answers to the following questions. Use your dictionary.

- 1 Why is sleep important for teenagers?
- 2 What is typical of many teenagers?
- 3 What does new research suggest?
- 4 What is melatonin?
- 5 When does the body of a teenager start producing melatonin?
What's the result of that?
- 6 What have some schools in America decided to do? Why?

Many teenagers have the energy to play computer games until late at night but can't find the energy to get out of bed in time for school. Is it just laziness or is it something more? New research suggests that the reason for such behaviour maybe the hormonal changes of puberty. It could be the hormones that stop teenagers from going to bed early and make them sleepy in the morning. One thing is for certain - sleep is extremely important for teenagers because it is while they are sleeping that they release a hormone that is essential for their growth. They need more sleep than both children and adults.

At night our body produces the 'darkness hormone' melatonin which helps us to fall asleep.

Most adults start to produce melatonin at about 10 pm. Research has shown that teenagers start to produce the hormone at 1 am. In other words, teenagers are being kept awake by their bodies and there is not much they can do about it. The fact that they play computer games and watch television late at night stimulates the brain even more and makes it harder for them to fall asleep.

Whatever the reason, most teenagers do not get enough sleep. This results in bad moods and sometimes depression. In America, some schools have decided to start their classes later in the morning to give their teenagers some extra time in bed. They noticed their students did much better in class when they did not have to get up early.

8 Ask your friend and report back to the class.

- 1 Do you usually go to bed late?
- 2 Is it hard for you to get out of bed in the morning?
- 3 Do you play computer games or watch TV late at night?
- 4 Are you often in a bad mood in the morning?

THE DEVOTED FRIEND

Adapted from 'The Devoted Friend' by O. Wilde

“Once upon a time,” said a Linnet¹, “there was an honest fellow named Hans.”

“Was he famous?” asked a Water-Rat.

“No,” answered the Linnet, “I don’t think he was famous at all, but he had a kind heart and a funny, round, good-humoured face. He lived in a small cottage all by himself², and every day he worked in his garden. In all the country-side there was no garden so lovely as his. Different flowers grew there, and they bloomed or blossomed, so that there were always beautiful things to look at.”

Hans had many friends, but the most devoted friend of all was big Hugh [hju:], the Miller³. Indeed, so devoted was the rich Miller to Hans, that he would never go by his garden without filling his pockets with plums and apples if it was the fruit season.

“Real friends should have everything in common”, the Miller used to say, and little Hans nodded and smiled, and felt very proud of having a friend with such noble⁴ ideas.

Sometimes, indeed, the neighbours thought it was strange that the rich Miller never gave little Hans anything in return⁵, though he had a hundred sacks of flour in his mill, and six cows, and many sheep; but Hans never troubled his head about these things, and nothing gave him a greater pleasure than to listen to all the wonderful things the Miller said about the unselfishness of true friendship.

So little Hans worked away in his garden. During the spring, the summer, and the autumn he was very happy, but when the winter came, and he had neither fruit nor flowers to bring to the market, he suffered¹ a lot from cold and hunger, and often had to go to bed without any supper. In winter, he was very lonely, as the Miller never came to see him.

“There is no good in my visits to Hans while there is snow,” the Miller said to his Wife, “because when people are in trouble, no visitor should bother them. This is my idea about friendship, and I am sure I am right. So I shall wait till the spring comes, and then I shall visit him, and he will be able to give me a large basket of roses, and that will make him so happy.”

“You are certainly very thoughtful about others,” answered the Wife, as she sat in her comfortable arm-chair by the fire, “very thoughtful indeed. It is quite a pleasure to hear you talk about friendship!”

SCHOOLS IN BRITAIN

Ted and Mark go to a typical British school. When they were eleven, they left their primary school and went to the secondary school. Now they are thirteen and they are in year 8.

British schoolchildren study the same subjects and have the same lessons until they are thirteen. At thirteen they choose the subjects they want to do for the national GCSE (General Certificate in Secondary Education) exams. They take these exams in year 11 (at the age of sixteen). British children should take national exams in six subjects, although they might take more. Then they might stay at school for two more years and study for two or more 'A' level¹ exams. But they might leave school after their GCSEs.

Ted and Mark are doing eight subjects. They have to study English and Maths, and they have chosen French, Physics, Biology, Chemistry, Art and Design, and Information Technology². Their classmates chose different subjects so they don't have many lessons together even though they are still in the same form. They're taking their GCSE exams in June. They also do PE³ but there isn't a PE exam.

Ted and Mark go to school from Monday to Friday. School starts at 9 o'clock. There is a 20 minute break at half past 10. They have lunch at one o'clock. A few people go home but most of them eat lunch in the canteen.

Afternoon lessons start at quarter to 2 and finish at quarter to 4. After school the boys do sport. In their school pupils can also join the music group or belong to a club. When they get home they have to do their homework.

They like their school but Ted hates the uniform they have to wear.

After school the boys would like to go to a university but none of them has decided what they want to study yet.

I live in the middle of Australia, and there isn't a school near my house. I use my radio and the Internet to study. A teacher sometimes visits me, too. I like doing projects and talk to other kids. The Internet is a great thing! We have a web-camera, so I can see Science experiments and other things. I don't have to sit in a classroom and keep quiet. We do different subjects at my school: Maths and English, Music and Art, Science and Technology.

I love Literature, but I don't like Science much. We do Geography and History, too. We study Spanish because there are a lot of Latinos here — people from Latin America, like my friend Miguel [mi'gel].

We have no uniform and most kids wear T-shirts, jeans and sneakers¹. In American schools you have to get good grades, otherwise you can be 'left back'. That means you do the year again. It's pretty unusual.

Another thing — every morning we have the Pledge of Allegiance². Sometimes we all say it together, but usually we just stand up and listen to one kid saying it. If you talk during the Pledge, our teacher Mr. Schumacher gets really mad. I don't know why, but he really loves the Pledge. A lot of schools don't do the Pledge any more.

P.S. Tomorrow we are going to the Air and Space

Museum.

It's a great museum and I am looking forward to visiting it.

Many British schools have a charter or code which students sign, promising to behave well. These are some typical rules:

- No student may go out of the school grounds during the day without a written request from a parent or guardian¹.
- No jewellery² is permitted with school uniform, with the exception of a watch.

SPEAKING

I'd like to be a pilot and work for an air-taxi firm. I study hard. I study History, Geography and Maths especially hard because of my future profession. I don't use only textbooks. I've read a lot of specialized magazines and history books, too.

Well, most of them. (2)..... , " Mr Jenkins says. He fixes taps or paints the walls. At noon he has coffee in the canteen. In the afternoon he repairs broken chairs or tables in his workshop. From time to time children bring a broken bike to him. He is always happy to repair it. He is very friendly and often smiles.

Mr Goldring comes to school 3 times a week to talk with pupils about their problems. Children feel lonely. Their parents work until late and they don't have anyone to talk to. "Some pupils study several hours a day but they don't get good marks. They can't show what they really know. School pushes pupils to be successful and this is very stressful. (3)..... I'm very happy when they ask me for help."

In the morning Miss Havilland teaches English and in the afternoon she works in the library.

She works there four hours a day. The library opens at 12. Some children come to the library every week. "Miss Havilland

He meets the school council twice a month. (5)..... They discuss school outings, anti-bullying strategies or problems like skipping classes. LISTENING

1 a) Read the letter and answer the questions below.

It's so hard to be a good teacher. I have to teach my subject well and take a good care of my pupils. I mean, I should help them become good and responsible people.

Still I like it very much. Most children are so warm, smart and interesting.

Well, I have some problems from time to time. Mostly with those kids who are aggressive or who aren't interested in anything. The best way to solve the problem is to keep them busy. It always works.

Mostly 'a'

You like going to school. It's interesting. You are a very curious and hard-working boy / girl. There is a bright future ahead² of you. Well done!

Mostly 'b'

You don't mind going to school. However, you prefer doing sports, watching TV or just being with your friends, don't you? You can do much better, that's for sure. Be more serious about it and the results will be better.

Mostly 'c'

You have a problem. That's too bad. You have to change or you can expect very little from your life. Wake up! Be more serious!

Nearly equal 'a', 'b', 'c'.

You can be rather serious as well as lightheaded. So, set your goals and make your plans. Keep to the plans and soon you'll become the master of your mood. It'll help in your study and life.

¹to cheat [tʃi:t] — шахраювати, обманювати

²ahead [ə'hed] — попереду

2 Discuss in class the questions below.

Explain why the answer is YES or NO.

What about children in your class or at your school?

Do they

- study several hours a day?
- arrive at school at 8.30?
- always get good marks if they study hard?
- think that tests or exams are stressful?
- worry about doing well at school?
- have problems with their parents?
- have problems with their teachers?
- read only books that are on the reading list?
- show great interest in computers?
- sometimes feel lonely?
- greet teachers when they meet them?

1 Most of my classmates have mobile phones. I myself don't have one. They bring their phones to school. They cannot use the phones during class, but they sometimes send and get messages so they cannot concentrate on the lesson. When the teachers notice this, they get very upset, they send them to the headmaster, they confiscate the phone and they give all of us lectures. What a waste of time and energy! The worst thing is when a phone rings! What do you think?

2 We have a new boy in our class. He is quiet and okay but some people are horrible to him, especially this one boy who is really arrogant and full of himself. The new boy has to defend himself all the time. My dad says bullies can be boys or girls. They pick on kids who are new or who are different for some reason. Maybe they are talented and this makes some people jealous! I think all this is horrible. Can kids solve problems like these themselves or should they tell their parents and their teachers? What do you think?

- 3 This is what I hear at home: "You only enjoy yourself! How can you get into a good school or get a good job one day if you don't study hard? Look at your cousin Robert! He studies all the time and he has all 'A's.' I'm sick and tired of hearing it. And I'm sick and tired of my cousin! In my opinion, parents put too much pressure on their children to have all 'A's at school. The bad thing is that they are only interested in grades, not in how much their children know or how much they learn. We study for ourselves and not for our parents! What do you think?

4 Listen to the three dialogues and say which letter from 'Buzz' the two friends are discussing in each of them.

5 a) Read the dialogues and answer the questions.

- In which dialogues do the two girls agree?
- In which do they disagree?
- Do you agree more with Celia or with Sarah?

1

Sarah: I always leave my mobile phone at home. I think school's not a place for mobile phones.

Celia: I don't think so. What if we have to call our parents during the break?

Sarah: We can use the public phone. If we have our mobiles we forget ourselves and start sending messages.

2

Sarah: I agree with this. I get good marks at school but it's because I want it myself, not because my parents want it.

Celia: I don't agree. I believe parents are right to push their children. Kids are lazy.

Sarah: Speak for yourself!

3

Celia: In my opinion, this is very serious. This new boy really has a hard time. He can't solve this problem by himself. They have to speak to their teacher.

Sarah: You're right. I think they also have to speak to this stupid bully.
Celia: Of course, but I'm not sure he wants to listen.

Lesson 2

b) Work in pairs. Choose one of the dialogues and act it out in class.

6 Work in groups. Speak on the following questions.

- 5 Can you defend yourself?
- 6 Do you have a feeling that somebody picks on you?

REMEMBER!

Saying what you think: I think... I believe... In my opinion, ...

Agreeing: I agree (with you). You're right. Of course.

Disagreeing: I don't agree. I don't think so.

7 Work in groups. Agree or disagree with the statements below. Give your reasons.

9 a) Read the email and answer the questions.

The screenshot shows a Windows-style email application window. The menu bar includes Message, Edit, Search, Utilities, Spell Checker, Privacy, View, and Options. Below the menu is a toolbar with various icons. The message header shows the recipient as 'To: Mike', the sender as 'From: Jenny', and the subject as 'School'. The main body of the email contains two paragraphs of text:

If you ask me, school is OK. It would probably be boring without it. I would miss my friends. Maybe holidays are too short. And teachers? Some are good and others are not. Just like us, pupils. I like Miss Polly best. She teaches History. Her lessons are always interesting and fun.

What I like most is that she is always ready to listen to us and she's really patient. Besides she's always fair.

Lesson 2

If you do something serious, like a broken window, you can be excluded². If students are excluded from a state school, the authorities have to find them another one.

SOS! You have problems!

You have to change your attitude to school, or you'll be at the back of your class. Ask for help and try your best.

More than 3 but less than 9

Your school success depends upon your efforts in study and other school activities. You're one of 'so-so' pupils.

More than 9

Wow! You are a real top class pupil. You've got a chance to go far in your future. Don't stop. Go on!

b) Now compare your scores in a small group. Do you agree with your score?

Why (Why not)? Start like this:

I agree with my score.

I got thirteen and I ...

I don't agree with my score.

I got only five points but I ...

c) Work in your group. What do you think is necessary to do to make your school life more exciting (to make your lessons more interesting)? Compare your ideas with the rest of the class.

6 a) Read the information about two schools.

All pupils study Maths, Science and a Foreign Language — some choose English, others French or German.

Pupils get a lot of homework every day, but not at weekends. The school is also closed at weekends.

Children have an hour and a half for lunch, and during this time they can study in the library or join a music club — there is a very good music teacher at school. The school is in the centre of the city, but, unfortunately, there is nowhere to play sport and pupils have to go to a sports centre by bus.

The school is near public transport, so pupils don't have to come to school by bicycle or motorbike.

Lessons 1–2

The school has excellent sports facilities — basketball and tennis courts, a modern gymnasium, football and hockey fields. The children in the school are from 6 to 16 years old. Only those pupils over 11 get homework. Everybody takes Maths, English and Science. Children can eat lunch in the school and one of the teachers organises a lunchtime disco in the hall. There is no library or music room. The school is open on Saturdays for sports activities. The school organises school buses, and nobody can come to school by bicycle.

b) Work in a group of three. Role-play the situation.

Task for pupils A, B

Imagine you are head teachers of two different schools like the one described above. Read the information and then answer your partner's questions.

Task for pupil C

Imagine you are a parent who wants to send his / her child to school. You visit two schools and have talks with their head teachers. Ask them (first pupil A, then B) questions about the schools they represent.

Example: Does everybody learn a foreign language?

- everybody / learn a foreign language?
- anybody / teach Computer Studies?
- anywhere / to do private study?
- anything / to do at lunchtime?
- anybody / teach Music?
- everybody / study Science?

7 Agree or disagree with the reasons why children go to school.

School

helps you make your own decisions.
helps you understand yourself better.
makes you polite and well behaved.
introduces you to new science ideas.
helps you use your free time sensibly.
trains you for a future job.
teaches you moral values.
teaches you about our country, its history, culture etc.

8 Work in pairs. Speak on the topic ‘School in My Life’. Then write 12-15 sentences to express your thoughts. Use the following questions.

- 1 Can you say that school is your second home? Give your reasons.
- 2 What does school give you?
- 3 Do you have a favourite teacher?
- 4 What is an ideal teacher (pupil), in your opinion?
- 5 Why do some students hate school? What does it depend on?
- 6 What is your idea of a modern school?
- 7 Give your own idea of the school in future.

Lessons 1–2

1 Listen and read the story. Say where the action of the story takes place and who the main characters are.

GOOD MORNING, MISS DOVE

(after Frances Gray Patton)

Miss Dove ['mɪs ,dʌv] was a strict teacher. If a pupil wanted to leave the classroom to get a drink of water, Miss Dove just looked at him and said nothing. They were afraid of that look and they called her ‘the terrible Miss Dove’ though she never shouted at them or scolded them.

On that day forty children were sitting in her class at the Geography lesson. They heard the bell, but they did not move, they did not talk, they all waited in silence and looked at Miss Dove. Only after she had told them to close their books and go, they left the classroom quietly without shouting or running. A boy who had talked during the lesson was left in the room and had to write twenty times “I must not talk during the lessons”.

The next lesson began. The pupils came into the classroom and took their places. Miss Dove gave them written work to do, because it was Tuesday, and on Tuesdays they always had some written work.

One of the boys pushed the girl who was sitting next to him. Miss Dove looked at him, and he stopped moving though she did not scold him. Miss Dove looked at the boy but she did not see him. Instead of him she saw his elder brother, Thomas Baker ['təməs 'beɪkə], who had sat in that place some six or seven years before. The war brought the children she had taught to different parts of the world. One was in Germany, another — in the jungle¹ of New Guinea [nju: 'gɪnɪ], a third one — somewhere in Africa. She did not know where all of them were. Though all of them had finished school many years before, she now saw them as they had been at seven, at ten or at twelve.

The pupil she thought about most often was Thomas Baker.

¹jungle [dʒʌŋgl] — джунгли

The German planes had bombed his ship, and for many days he had lain on a raft¹ without anything to eat and very little to drink. When they found him, he was almost dying. The newspapers wrote much about him in those days.

Randy ['rændi] Baker put his hand up.

“Yes, Baker?” Miss Dove asked.

“I got a letter from Tom yesterday,” the boy explained. “May I read it to the class?”

“Yes, certainly.”

“But it’s a long one.”

“I’m sure it will be useful for everyone to hear the letter of such a brave man,” explained the teacher.

Randy looked around and began to read. Tom told his younger brother, what he had seen from the plane in which he was brought back to England. He wrote that the land below looked like the map, they had used at the Geography lessons at school. Then he wrote how he had suffered on the raft with almost no water to drink. “Do you know who I was thinking about then? It wasn't a boy or a girl," he explained. "I was thinking about Miss Dove, and out there in the open ocean I played a game. No, I am not joking. And it helped me to stay alive¹. I imagined that I was back again in the Geography class; I remembered the look Miss Dove gave us when we wanted to leave the classroom for a drink of water. So I imagined that I was at her lesson and kept thinking² all the time, 'The bell will go in a few minutes. You can wait a little longer. You must wait for the bell.' And it made everything easier. It was almost as difficult there in the ocean as it had been at school. Tell that to the boys, will you?"

Randy stopped suddenly.

"Is that all?" Miss Dove asked.

"No," said Randy. His face became very red. "It says here, 'Please thank Miss Dove and give her a kiss for me³.'"

Miss Dove went up to the boy.

"Well, Randy," she said. "I'm waiting." In the silence that followed little Randy kissed "the terrible Miss Dove". Nobody in the class laughed or even joked about it; everybody was silent except one girl who suddenly spoke.

"It's like a medal," she said. "It's just like a medal he has given to Miss Dove."

2 Answer the questions.

- 1 How do we know that Miss Dove was a strict teacher?
- 2 How did the children call their teacher?
- 3 Describe the way the lessons usually ended.
- 4 What methods did Miss Dove use as a penalty?
- 5 What did the teacher sometimes remember when she looked at her pupils?

- 7 What happened to Thomas Baker once?
- 8 Tell the main content of the letter.
- 9 Why did Randy's face become very red?
- 10 What was that kiss compared with? Do you agree? Why?

3 Discuss the text in groups of four.

- 2 What would you do in Thomas Baker's place at the time when he was alone on the raft in the open ocean?
- 3 Can men be born brave?
- 4 Is it important to be self-disciplined in order to be brave?
- 5 What had helped Thomas to stay alive?
- 6 Can you prove that Miss Dove loved her pupils?
- 7 Did she think of the future of her pupils? What makes you think so?
- 8 Can you name the main thing Miss Dove taught her children?
- 9 Was Miss Dove a good teacher?
- 10 Do you like her as a person? Why (Why not)?
- 11 What do you think the 'medal' for Miss Dove was?
- 12 Do you want to be a teacher? Why (Why not)?

OUR FRIENDS AND TEACHERS

“Books and friends should be few but good,” says an English proverb.

“Except¹ a living man there is nothing more wonderful than a book! It teaches us and opens its heart to us as a brother,” wrote Charles Kingsley, an English writer of the 19th century. The book is certainly a friend and a teacher. We learn many things by reading books. Books teach people to live. After reading some books it is easy to understand what should be done and what must not be done. There are books which help pupils with their lessons.

In general, books can be divided into two main groups: fiction and non-fiction. Fiction books contain made-up stories, non-fiction books are books that give facts.

In ancient times books were written by hand and few copies were made. Sometimes several men were needed to copy a book as the work was slow. For many years the number of books in the world was very small. Only a few people had copies of them to read and study.

The invention of printing changed a lot in history. Printing played a very important role in the development of culture, science and literature.

Today, there are many thousands of public libraries in Ukraine.

Librarians are always ready to help people to find a book on any subject if those do not know the title of the book they want. Those who know how to use the catalogue can find a book and needn't consult the librarian.

Conferences, exhibitions and other events take place in libraries. Thematic selections of books are prepared beforehand¹ to help the visitors develop their reading preferences.

Many libraries have reading rooms and the rooms equipped with computers to give the opportunity to work with the Internet. Some libraries have a room where students learning a foreign language can have practice in speaking and listening.

Literature is my favourite subject at school. Ukrainian is my mother tongue, so I understand its beauty very well. That's why I'm fond of the world of Ukrainian poetry. It's the poetry of love for people and the native land. Every Ukrainian should read such famous authors as Taras Shevchenko, Ivan Franko or Lesia Ukrainka. They described the real life of Ukrainian people in the past. Their books are very truthful and interesting. Among the modern Ukrainian poets I like Lina Kostenko most of all. I study English at school. I hope that time will come and I'll be

I like reading. I often go to the school library after school. Sometimes I just flick through music magazines to find out about new CDs or concerts. I also borrow books that are on my reading list. Some of them are OK but some are boring. I read other stuff as well. I usually take out 2 to 3 books. I never take out more than 4, that's how many you can take, actually. I always ask Miss Havilland for advice. She helps me pick out one or two. I look at the cover first. I like fantasy novels like The Hobbit or The Chronicals of Narnia. I often take adventure books like Robinson Crusoe. I sometimes take non-fiction. For example, Great Mysteries of the World or the Guinness Book of Records or some books about animals. Do my parents read a lot? Well, I just live with my mum. She is always busy, but when she has time she reads books about music or crime stories. She's fond of Agatha Christie.

Chris: Well, it is a book you could spend hours with. It's a very funny story. I laughed all the time while I was reading it. And, besides, the author has created very truthful characters.

Mary: Do you think it would interest me?

Chris: I think so. Come with me to the library tomorrow, if you like.

Mary: That's an idea. Besides, my dad asked me to bring a detective story for him. By the way, have you heard of Lilly? She has been ill for the last week, as far as I know.

Chris: Yes, she has. She phoned me yesterday and told us to find some information about Alan Milne. She needs it for the article. That's why I asked you to phone me. We should go to the library tomorrow.

Mary: Fine! Let's do it right after the lessons. Then we can visit Lilly together.

The children are talking about ...

- a) piano music, b) rock music, c) different tastes in music.

Linda: What's the best concert you've ever been to?

John: Maxim's concert a year ago. He's been my idol for years. Maxim's the absolute king of the piano. Actually, I haven't been to a concert since then.

Linda: A boring piano concert? And you call that music? It's just old-fashioned 'plink plonk' on the keyboard! No electric guitars, no drum section, no hands in the air. You are so not IN.

John: I don't care about being IN. What's in today is out tomorrow. I don't care about trendy stuff, I care about top quality music. I've built this world of my own.

Linda: What world?

John: My own music world — no INS and no OUTS, just the best stuff from the past and the best from the present. My piano teacher gave me a few hints.

Linda: Come on. How can you be so snobbish? I bet you didn't go to the U2 concert.

John: No, I didn't. I hate all this artificial hysteria the media created about it.

b) Read the dialogue again and match the sentence halves.

- 4 She likes the sound of the piano.
- 5 The media decides what or who is a 'must-see'.
- 6 The INS only follow public opinion.

2 a) Listen and read to the end of the dialogue.

Linda: There's nothing artificial about U2. There were a hundred thousand people at the stadium. And a giant stage. And giant loudspeakers.

John: Yes, I heard the music all right. I had to close the windows but those 'ka-booms' went through the walls all the same.

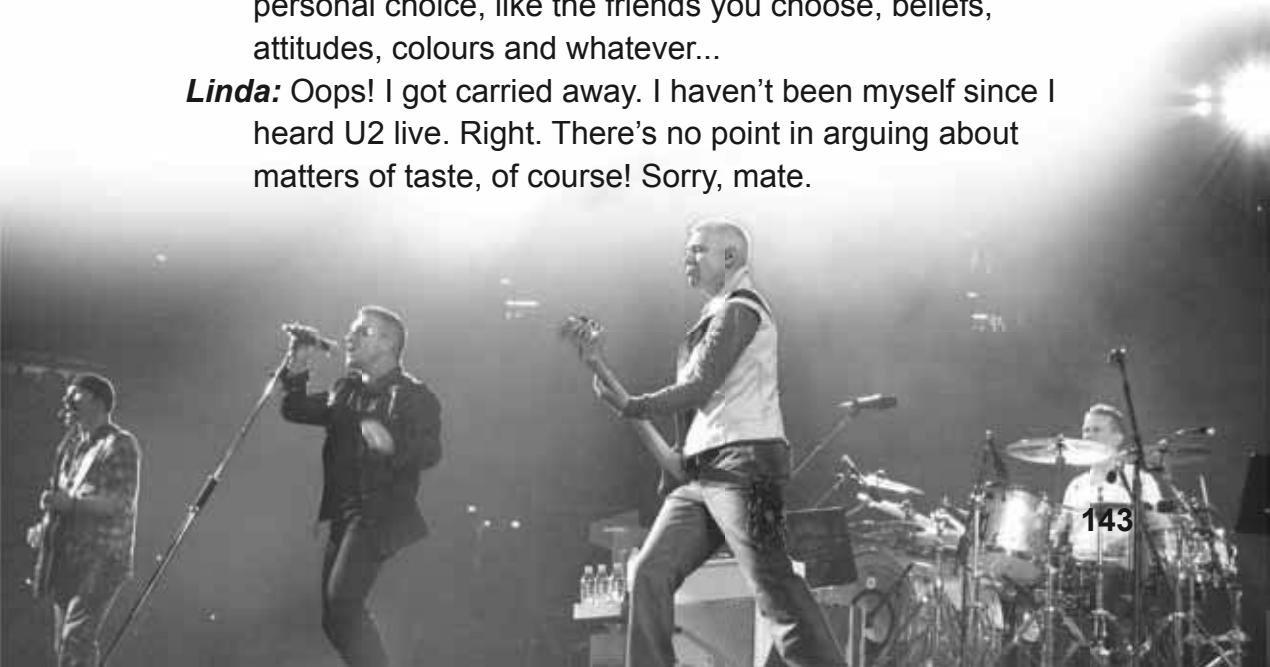

Linda: So you heard it after all? All those messages of love and peace...

John: Come on. Chopin's music is about love and peace. And Mozart's. It has survived for centuries. It's romantic and soft like love itself.

Linda: Hello! That's the taste of a hundred years ago or so. You have to wake up! You should...er... no, you must listen to what all the young people are listening to today.

John: Should? Must? Come on! There are no 'shoulds' or 'shouldn'ts' or 'musts' and 'mustn'ts' in music. You know that as well as I do. Music is a matter of taste, it's your personal choice, like the friends you choose, beliefs, attitudes, colours and whatever...

Linda: Oops! I got carried away. I haven't been myself since I heard U2 live. Right. There's no point in arguing about matters of taste, of course! Sorry, mate.

b) Choose your answer.

 - b) ten thousand

- 3 What helped John in getting over his tragic loss?

Stella: What was it like then?

Granny: Oh, nice. Or maybe it seemed nicer because I was so young then. Well, John Lennon went to my school. Quarry Bank High School. He played in a band called the Quarrymen. We were crazy about John.

Stella: Why did you like him so much?

Granny: I think he was very talented. He played the guitar, and boys with a guitar are always popular. He wasn't a good pupil, he used to bunk off school, but he was very good at writing and art, and our headmaster later helped him to get to art college.

Stella: Why did he bunk off?

Granny: I think he was very unhappy at that time. His mum died in an accident. She was crossing the street when a car hit her. John was devastated by it. His dad had left home earlier. He worked on a ship like a lot of men from Liverpool at that time. I think music helped him a lot in getting over it. John met Paul McCartney who joined the Quarrymen in 1957. They soon changed the band's name to The Beatles. They played in the Cavern Club in Liverpool every night and they soon became the most popular band in England. Your grandpa bought their first single Love me do.

Stella: Oh, I know, one of those funny black records.

Granny: Yes, he still has it. It's a bit scratchy, though...

Stella: What did you like about their music?

Granny: I liked the beat. I loved the lyrics and the sound of the electric guitars. But, I also loved their use of other classical musical instruments. Their look, with

The Beatles jacket and hairstyle, was special, too. It was created by their manager, Brian Epstein.

Stella: What songs did you like best, granny?

Granny: Lots of them. I want to hold your hand, With a little help from my friends, She's leaving home... There are so many nice memories that come back with them. When your mum was a baby, and when she was cranky, I let her listen to Blackbird and Octopus's Garden. These were her favourites. Now I like When I'm 64. Oh, dear, it all seemed like... Yesterday. (starts singing). Let's have a cup of tea now!

He was devastated ... his mother's tragic death.

c) Write at least 4 sentences about yourself using the words in bold (adjectives) + preposition

Explain what granny means by saying:

"Oh, maybe it seemed nicer because I was younger."

"Guys with guitars are always popular."

"Music helped him in getting over it."

"It all seemed like yesterday!"

7 a) Read two articles. Use your dictionary if necessary.

Ruslana Lyzhychko is a Ukrainian pop singer who won the Eurovision Song Contest in 2004 with her Wild Dances. She is never at rest; she is always on the move, meeting people, while she moves from place to place. This energetic woman with a sunny smile welcomes people, makes new friends, and signs autographs, all at the same time. She is active in public life and politics. Ruslana was the Deputy¹ of Ukraine and is an Ambassador of Good Will² in UNESCO³.

* * *

She is unique and enigmatic. Her voice range is four octaves. Her musical talents became evident when she was still a little girl. She studied piano playing and opera singing. She won many first prizes at different music contests and may be it was her success at the New Wave-2009 at Yurmala, Latvia, which was a great boost in her career of a pop singer. It's all about Jamala, whose real name is Susana Jamaladynova. Then there was her song "Smile" in 2011 which evoked positive emotions and could be called as an international tourist hymn. But she became a Eurovision winner in 2016 with a ballad about the 1944 deportation of the Crimean Tatars, a song that arises sadness and sorrow... She was sure that Europeans were "ready to hear about the pain of other people".

Accepting her Eurovision trophy, she said: "I know that you sing a song about peace and love, but actually, I really want peace and love to everyone." She then thrust the glass microphone prize and yelled: "Thank you, Europe — welcome to Ukraine!"

b) Work in pairs to role-play the situation.

A, you are the interviewer for a Music Magazine. Interview Ruslana or Jamala (6-8 questions). Use one of the articles above.

B, imagine you are Ruslana / Jamala. Search for the information in the Intrenet to answer A's questions.

SPEAKING

1 a) Listen and read the talk.

Terry: John and I went to a rock concert on Saturday. It was at the Central Stadium.

Chris: Who performed at the concert?

John: Okean Elzy, my favourite group.

Terry: It was only three o'clock in the afternoon when we got there, so we watched as they were setting up the speakers for the sound system. One of the men working there even asked me to help, so we ran over and gave him a hand.

Lilly: When did they start the concert?

John: At six o'clock, and since we had helped earlier we were allowed to sit at the edge of the stage. We were close enough to touch the performers.

Terry: For me the best moment of the concert was when Svyatoslav Vakarchuk and his team appeared. I couldn't believe when I saw him walking out. I felt so excited to be near my favourite singer.

Chris: Did you speak to him?

John: Well, there were too many people. Everyone clapped. Svyatoslav stopped right in front of us, leaned over and said, "Enjoy the show!"

Lilly: What happened then?

Terry: He started singing all of his hits. We all joined him and danced to the music. The rest of the concert was wonderful, and everybody had a great time.

Chris: How did you feel after the concert?

John: As for me, I was happy because I had had the chance to see my favourite band and talk to Svyatoslav in front of five thousand people.

Lilly: And what about you, Terry?

Terry: I felt exhausted, but also delighted. I enjoyed the concert very much.

Chris: I see you really spent a great time at the weekend.

John: Yes, we were lucky.

Lesson 2

For A:

Every Sunday afternoon at five o'clock the new singles chart is released on Radio 1st 'Top 40' programme. Radios in Britain and Europe are switched on to hear the latest news about pop music. The 'Top 40' is broadcast live on Radio 1st and it is Europe's the most popular programme. The chart is produced by Gallup Chart Services. How is it done?

Well, first discs are recorded. They are released and each record is given a code number. Then copies of the records are sent to shops. When the records are bought, their code numbers are recorded in the shop's computer. Then this information is sent to the central computer. The information is sorted and the 'Top 40' chart is produced. Then the chart is sent to the radio station and the programme is written by the producer and the D.J. Finally the programme is broadcast on Sunday afternoon.

For B:

- a What is the programme about?
- b On which radio station is it broadcast?

6 Make a music survey among people of different ages.

You are going to compare the music tastes of different people. Interview some older people to find out what kind of music they like. Compare their tastes with those of your mates. Do you think they know much about modern music?

Step 1. Work in pairs. Make up a questionnaire with as many questions as you can.

Example: Do you like pop music?

Have you heard of Aha?

Step 2. Show your list to another pair to add some more questions.

Step 3. Interview as many older people as possible.

Try to use English.

Step 4. Write a short report about your interviews.

Step 5. Share the results with your class.

7 Do a mini-research project in your class. Find someone who:

- | | |
|-------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 plays a musical instrument; | 4 sings in a choir; |
| 2 plays in a band; | 5 takes music lessons; |
| 3 plays in an orchestra; | 6 listens to loud music. |

Example: — Do you play a musical instrument?

— Yes, I do. / No, I don't.

Make a table according to the items (1-6) and fill in the names of the pupils you'll find.

8 Read the article below and point out:

- the number of people who don't play musical instruments
- three things we need to be good musicians
- the reason why some children are better at music than others
- the number of hours that good musicians practise before they are 18

Lesson 2

HOW TO BE A GOOD MUSICIAN

A recent report by a British psychologist shows that practice is the key to musical success.

Nine out of ten people don't play a musical instrument because they think they aren't musical.

However, professor Sloboda believes we can all be good musicians. You need a support and help from your family, a kind teacher and lots of practice.

Professor Sloboda thinks practice makes the difference between young people who are good at music and those who aren't.

Professor Sloboda spoke to 120 children in school. They all played musical instruments. The good musicians practised three to four times more than the others. In fact, the best musicians practise 5,000 to 10,000 hours before they are 18. And yes — even Mozart had to practise!

- 9 Make up an article 'Musical Stars' about some facts from private lives of musical talents from your school.

FILE FOR PROJECT

Step 1. Make up your questionnaire. Use the following questions:

- a) How old were you when you started singing or playing the instrument?
- b) Are your parents musical?
- c) How often do you practise?
- d) What instrument do you prefer?

Step 2. Interview some musical people in your class / school.
Imagine they are music stars.

Step 3. Write an article about them. (See example on page 162)
Step 4. Present it in the Gallery of Your Group Works.

Jane plays the violin in her school orchestra. She practises every day now. She plays classical music, but she also likes pop music. Her favourite singer is Michael Jackson.

Harry plays the guitar in his school band. He started lessons when he was 9. His parents are very musical. His mother plays the piano and his father plays the trombone.

WRITING

1 Read the text, then write a paragraph about the importance of music in your life. Make use of the questions below.

MUSIC ... MUSIC ... MUSIC ...

We hear so much music in a week that we may not even notice some of it. Some days you may hear a school band, an orchestra or music in a church. You may hear music from records and tapes, or on the radio. You hear music during television shows and movies ...

You should know music is a language. People use it to express moods and feelings. Some music is happy, and another¹ is sad. Some is serious, and another can make people laugh. Many popular songs are love songs.

¹another [ə'nlðə] — інший, інакший, відмінний

Lesson 2

People make their own music, too.

Whenever you hum or whistle¹ a tune, you are making music. Classes and choirs sing together. Many boys and girls study to become good musicians. They may take singing lessons or learn to play a musical instrument.

And what about you?

- Do you listen to music in your free time?
- Do you buy a lot of CDs and tapes?
- Do you go to concerts?
- Do you talk to your friends a lot about music?

2 Write the description of a music event you attended. If necessary, invent your own details. Make use of the ‘Learning Tip’. Divide your description into paragraphs and be sure you answered all the questions.

LEARNING TIP

HOW TO WRITE AN ARTICLE ABOUT AN EVENT YOU ATTENDED

Paragraph 1

- What event did you attend? Where / when was the event?

A BIOGRAPHY OF AGATHA CHRISTIE

Agatha Christie was born in Devon, England, on the 15th of September 1890, the youngest of the three children in a wealthy family. As a child, she never attended school because her mother wanted her to be taught at home by a governess and tutors. She was a very shy child who learned very early to create games to keep herself occupied. She studied the piano and music in Paris and later turned to writing.

In 1914, at the age of 24, she married Archie Christie, a World War I fighter pilot. During the First World War, Agatha worked as a nurse. It was while she was working in a hospital that Agatha Christie came up with the idea of writing a detective novel. In the hospital she learned a lot about drugs and poisons and she used this information in her novels. Her first novel was published in 1920 and the main character was a Belgian detective, Hercules Poirot. Christie wrote 30 novels featuring Poirot. Among the most popular were Murder on the Orient Express and Death on the Nile.

In 1926 Archie asked for a divorce and Agatha, feeling lost and upset, suddenly disappeared. For two weeks nobody knew where she was. All of England became involved in the case of the missing writer. Eventually, she was found in a small hotel, explaining to the police that she had lost her memory. Even today nobody knows exactly what happened to her during those two weeks. Her second marriage was to Max Mallowan, a young archaeologist whom she met on a trip to Baghdad. They went home to England on the Orient Express and got married in 1930. Christie and her husband travelled to the Middle East many times. These journeys created the background for several of her novels, for example Death on the Nile.

Another one of Christie's well-known characters was introduced in Murder at the Vicarage. It was Miss Jane Marple, an old lady who solved mysteries with her sharp mind and intuition.

During her life, Christie wrote over 70 novels and a number of short stories, plays and screenplays. Some of her novels have been made into successful films. Her work has been translated into more than a hundred languages and she is the most popular mystery writer of all times. Agatha Christie died on the 12th January, 1976, at the age of 85.
